What participants think of the AlgaEurope conferences

As a long-term sponsor, we value AlgaEurope for its innovation, expertise, and international collaboration. Each year, the conference connects top professionals from academia and industry, offering valuable networking and insights into algae production and commercialization. Supporting AlgaEurope helps advance the algae sector, and we are proud to be part of this forward-thinking community.

Fritz Wintersteller,
Schott AG, Germany

This is the best place to get an annual update or first exposure to the European and global both microalgae and macroalgae research advances and commercial developments.

John Benemann,
MicroBio
Engineering Inc.,
United States

It was a dynamic event with a vibrant algae community, rich in new insights and valuable sector connections - bringing together familiar faces and new collaborators while efficiently tackling many EU-related questions that would otherwise require much more time and effort.

Maris Stulgis,
European Commission,
Belgium

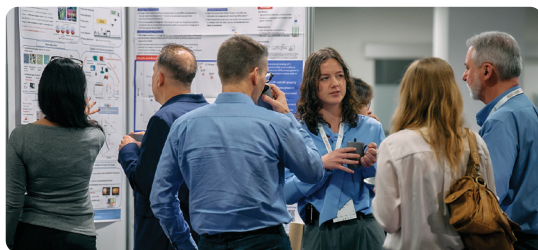

An outstanding professional meeting featuring a genuine friendship, a solid expertise, and fruitful networking.

Philippe Granvillain,
ALGAMA,
France

Coming out of my first AlgaEurope experience, I truly understand why this is "the place to be" for everyone from the Algae sector - here old and new friends, pioneers, makers and thinkers of the Algae sector catch up on the past year and set things in motion for the next one.

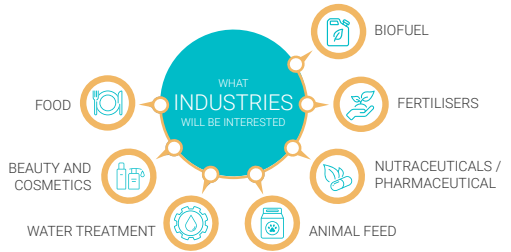

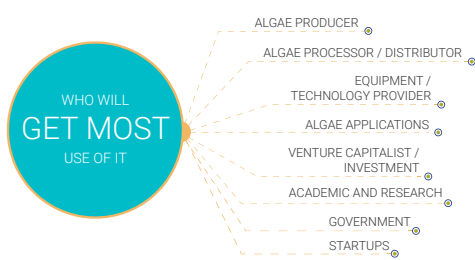

Elisa Werner,
YAS 2026 / University
of Turku, Finland
